

Allotment holder winter lecture

This year the Farnham Allotment Winter Lecture will be led by Professor Martin Charter who runs the highly successful Farnham repair café. You will learn all about the ground breaking initiative, where people bring all sorts of items and are helped with their repair, and it's role within the local community.

The lecture is free and is primarily available to Farnham allotment holders however if you would like to come along please get in touch as we may have additional spaces.

If you would like to come along to this evening please email lara.prior@farnham.gov.uk to ensure we have enough chairs and refreshments for everyone.
