

Emma Dunbar: Colour in the Snow

“What excites me about making a painting is trying to capture the essence of a place, a feeling, a thing.” Emma Dunbar

New Ashgate Gallery are delighted to welcome back Emma Dunbar’s vibrant and dynamic paintings for a much anticipated solo show. While Emma’s show will feature all seasons, for the first time, Emma has prepared a substantial new body of work, exploring colour in the show, making this show a special treat to our collectors and art lovers.

The exhibition also explores the joyful richness of the everyday. Emma gathers ingredients from her home, travels, the landscape, combining pattern and familiarity to create colourful and recognisable paintings. Her attraction to colour and the decorative qualities in everyday objects provide the foundation for her art while her training as a printmaker is evident both in the use of blocks of flat colour and in the way she scratches through surfaces to reveal pre-laid colours underneath.

At the same time in the gallery, there will feature the decorative ceramics by Ken Eardley. Ken’s colour and patterns focus on brightening up any kitchen and interior, bringing vibrancy into the everyday. They enter into a dialogue with Emma’s work.

Maker in Focus: Ken Eardley and the Wondrous World of Colour and Shapes

Brighten up your home and kitchen with Ken Eardley’s decorative ceramic ware that brings vibrancy into the everyday.

With a background in textiles, Ken explores his passion for strong graphic patterns and colour in his fun, bold and functional ceramics featuring birds, flora and fauna, polka dots and love hearts. Ken’s pieces are hand-made glazed earthenware and made using press-moulds. His ranges include vases, jugs, mugs, bowls and lamps and are all hand-painted.

At the same time in the gallery, there will feature new paintings by Emma Dunbar that celebrates the joyful richness of the everyday, creating a beautiful dialogue with Ken’s work.

World Poets – D H Lawrence, poet

Lecture-performance-with-readings (and an interval). World Poets

2019 England tour

D H Lawrence,

poet

Lecture-performance

with Graham Fawcett

If, rather than knowing him only as the author of Sons and Lovers, The Rainbow and other novels, you have ever read a poem by D H Lawrence, the chances are that it may well have been the unforgettable early portrait, in word, picture and sound, of him remembering a woman playing a piano; or the intensely relived-moment-by-moment drama of a snake in Sicily; or, perhaps especially, the great late poem which takes the idea of Bavarian gentians and extends it into the underworld lives of Persephone and Pluto as though that link were the most natural thing in the world.

But then Lawrence, who called his 1920-23 collection Birds, Beasts and Flowers, was eminently a poet of nature (among many who came after, Ted Hughes and Sylvia Plath both admired him for it) and of so much more than that; he was also a celebrant of human nature in his instinct for the tenderness, passion and struggle in the love between men and women, men and men, women and women.

“If you have never experienced Graham Fawcett, you have missed something. His childlike enthusiasm for the greats of the canon is the motor that drives through his two-part, two-hour monologues to a journey’s end of revelation. (John Pownall, The Bridport Review, 2016)
